

What Other Editors Have To Say

MR. CROWLEY PASSES

Michigan State's horseman has saddled up and is hightailing it for the East. He quit his job at Michigan State to get more money in New York. He tore up his contract with Michigan State. His agreement meant nothing. His word was not good. Crowley may have been one of the Four Horsemen of Notre Dame but he didn't learn all of the lessons taught by Knute Rockne. Had he learned the lesson of common honesty he would not have continually sought other coaching positions while drawing down more money than any professor at Michigan State.

We hear much talk about amateur athletics. The boys who take the knocks are amateurs. Too many coaches in both high school and college are professionals. They are out simply for the pay checks and are willing to use any means to that end.

Had not Crowley had Eliowitz, Monnet, Brunette, Handy, Van dermeer, Fasse, Grove and a dozen other super-athletes at Michigan State the famous Horseman would have looked like a bicycle rider. His contract with Michigan State would then have been something inviolate. He would have insisted that the college follow it to the letter.

We feel just a little red-faced over the praise we dished out to Crowley a year ago when he said he intended to live up to his contract at Michigan State. We thought he meant it. Now we know that he merely meant that the Iowa price was not high enough or the pay not sure enough. Crowley had his price. When that was met State was sold out.

We don't know Mr. Bachman of Florida who will take over the coaching duties deserted by Crowley. We have been given to understand that he did not jump his contract with the Florida institution. We wish him the best of luck at Michigan State. We hope that he will win as many games as did Crowley. We are sure he will if he has the same wealth of material that luckily fell to Crowley's lot. However, we have resolved to put a few added grains of salt on these tales of the wizardry and far-reaching influence of professional coaches. Never again will we become excited over the alleged exploits of some over-exploited coach.—Mason News.

County Treasurer Hoy McMurry informs us that delinquent tax collections of his office last year amounted to $20,287.29, and that delinquent taxes for this county collected by the auditor general for the first nine months of last year were over $1500. It was necessary for the various governmental units of the county to have this money, particularly the schools, and we are wondering what the outcome will be under the new laws, rulings, edicts, canceling taxes, making "tax holidays," etc.—F. M. Weber in his Atlanta Tribune.

While we favor the idea of a sales tax as being the nearest equitable of any form of taxation yet proposed, we want to be classified as against all new forms of taxation until all governmental costs have been cut to the present day ability of the people to pay.—Charlotte Republican-Tribune.

School Basket Ball Tournament Starts Here Tonight

100 BOYS TAKE PART IN GAMES

It's tournament time in the ranks of Michigan high school basket ball teams and this week-end, hundreds of aggregations will gather at fifty points in the state to open the firing that will eventually return champions in the four classes of schools.

Only Classes C and D will have a hand in this preliminary skirmishing, which carries just as much honor to the competing schools as their larger brothers, those in Classes A and B. Next week the "B" quintets will get their taste of action in the Regionals.

This city has been named as the scene of a district tournament. It means that large numbers of players and their followers will gather to witness the games. Not only will the winning team here receive unusual mention and material recognition in the way of trophies, but will be permitted to move on to the Regionals next week. It is the first step leading to the championships which are to be held in Lansing two weeks hence.

The Michigan High School Athletic Association, sponsors of the tournaments, will keep close tabs on the developments here. Competent officials, proper facilities for staging the games, supervision of the games so that no team is permitted to play more than one game a day and other points of importance are covered carefully. Every team entered will have as good a chance as any other to win the honors.

Two of the reigning champions will be called into play. Portage high school and St. Augustine's will both be entered in the tournament staged at Kalamazoo College. The others will not have a chance to defend their titles until the Regionals or Finals. State high school officials this year were impressed with the demand for these tournaments. In some instances several cities placed requests for tournaments. It is evident that the affairs provide much entertainment and are profitable ventures for those who undertake the sponsorship. Thus in being awarded a tournament, this city has been singled out for stock's pay by some former partners in a business deal, is small stuff. The effort is probably to humiliate the Governor in the eyes of the people of the state. Governor Comstock lost his money like many other Michigan business men in business ventures which went bad in the recent depression. No one will claim that when Governor Comstock had the ability to "pay" he refused to do so and all believe that if he is able to recover from the reversals of the past few years, he will pay every cent he owes if able to. The attempt to humiliate our governor has, we believe, failed with Michigan people.—Tom Conlin in the Crystal Falls Diamond Drill (R).

March 4 is just around the corner. Perhaps prosperity is lurking there too. Well, here's hoping that all those campaign promises were true. We could stand a small dose of prosperity this week.—Mason News.

recognition for the manner in which it supports high school sports and its efficient manner of conducting such events.

Drawings for the Grayling tournament were held at the High School Saturday afternoon. Details of the tournament were presented to the representatives of eleven schools by Tournament manager Gerald Poor. The results of the drawings give the tournament the following ten-game program:

Thursday Night.

8:00 o'clock—Houghton Lake vs. Johannesburg.

9:00 o'clock—St. Joe of West Branch vs. St. Marys of Gaylord.

10:00 o'clock—Grayling vs. Mio.

Friday Afternoon.

2:00 o'clock—Roscommon vs. winner of Houghton Lake and Johannesburg game.

3:00 o'clock—McBain vs. winner of St. Joe and St. Mary's game.

Friday Night.

8:00—West Branch vs. winner of the Grayling and Mio game.

9:00—Lake City vs. Gaylord.

Saturday Night.

8:00—Grayling-Lumberjacks vs. Roscommon Ramblers.

9:00—Class D finals.

10:00—Class C finals.

The following school representatives attended the meeting:

Gaylord—Supt. Hurd, Prin. Doyle, Coach Makel.

Lake City—Coach Sidney Swanton.

West Branch—Ralph Jensen, principal and coach.

Mio—Supt. W. A. Boerner.

Grayling—Coach Willard Cornell.

Johannesburg—Supt. S. J. Lewis.

Houghton Lake—Supt. Edw. Rankin.

St. Mary's (Gaylord)—Coach Criske.

St. Joe (West Branch)—Rev. Father Miller.

McBain—Supt. W. H. DeHart, and Instructor Jones.

Roscommon—Supt. Carpenter.

Tonight at eight o'clock the whistle will call into action the first game of the Tournament, and for three days eleven teams will stage an open scramble for two coveted positions as fans from eleven towns think and talk and see a lot of basketball. It promises to be an exceptionally interesting tournament and the entries are going to see a lot of tough old battles.

Tonight the lid will be pried off by a Class D clash between Houghton Lake and Johannesburg at eight o'clock. This looks like a "natural" with the verdict very much in doubt. At nine o'clock there will be a battle royal between St. Joe of West Branch and St. Mary's of Gaylord. This is apt to be the title deciding match. Roscommon and McBain drew byes and will go into action on Friday afternoon—Roscommon against the winner of the Houghton Lake-Johannesburg game at two o'clock and McBain taking on the winner of the St. Joe-St. Mary game. These games should be very interesting.

The Class C drawings show Grayling tangling with Mio on Thursday night at Lake City and Gaylord will give fans something very interesting to look at on Friday night and that ought to be one of the feature games of the tournament. Grayling or Mio will clash with West Branch on Friday night to decide which of the two will take on the winner of the Gaylord-Lake City fracas.

Saturday night's first game will be a battle at eight o'clock between the Roscommon Ramblers and the Grayling-Lumberjacks. After this will come the Class D finals and then the Class C finals. One Class D team and two Class C teams will be privileged to go to the Petoskey Regional tournament from this district tournament.

Grayling hopes to cop off this tournament but will be pushed hard to do so. It's hard to tell just how far Mio will get in Class C. Reports of winning streaks that they have piled up drift back and help create a growing wonder about them. They are the dark horse entry. Gaylord has a couple off Grayling already and are defending champions. They should rank as favorites but there is plenty of chance for them to get bumped off. The local team is picking up strength as boys get in shape again. Lake City never had a chance against Grayling, but they are far stronger now. They have a coming club. It would be interesting to see them play Gaylord and the chance that Gaylord would find them easy isn't as big as it would seem. West Branch, upset for the last couple of years, might turn the tables on anyone.

In Class D it's hard to pick a winner also. There are no teams that haven't a chance. St. Mary's has a peppy bunch of freshmen and they might go places. They have had a couple of work-outs in the gym here lately and looked first rate. They lost Kise and Louis McCoy but have a couple more of the same clan—typical McCoy's too. They are not considering defeat. Johannesburg has also been down for practice here. They have the same club that wasn't bad at all last year. They might easily go a round or two. They won't fine out of thirteen during the season. St. Joe also has a good record to risk in tournament play. They bumped West Branch High for a couple of nosedives and are rated by many as the best in Class D. McBain, for the last couple years champions of the Big Rapids tournament will be back on the local floor. They are popular here and DeHart's boys can be counted on to play ball. It's hard to know what their chances are but no one will put them out without a battle. Houghton Lake has a lot of potential power and a pretty good season's record. There's enough drive in that outfit to make coaches of rival clubs to wear corrugated foreheads. Roscommon has been slipping lately, but might rally and do business. They are a conundrum and no one can say what will be their fate.

It's going to pay fans to be around and see the action.

GRAYLING BANK IN FINE SHAPE

GRAYLING STATE SAVINGS BANK DOING BUSINESS AS USUAL

100% Withdrawals Permitted On All Accounts

Grayling State Savings Bank has been receiving considerable favorable comment from many sources since the institution of the Michigan bank moratorium. Our own bank is being numbered among a list of five Michigan banks that are paying deposits 100% on withdrawals. Mention of this has been broadcasted through newspapers and by radio.

The people of Grayling can hardly appreciate how fortunate they are in having a banking institution here whose stability is assured and depositors and patrons of which may rest with a feeling of complete financial security. With Esbern Hanson, whose integrity and business experience is generally acknowledged as President and John Bruhn, whose keen ability in financial matters is equally well known as Manager and Cashier, together with an able Board of Directors, the success of Grayling State Savings Bank as already demonstrated during the past trying weeks must be considered beyond question.

Of course it costs money when you make loans, but who wouldn't be willing to pay a fair price for accommodations, more so in times like the present when you at the same time are assured that there is a strong organization back of you directly interested in your welfare as well as its own. Our home bank ever since it opened for business, now more than a year ago, has strongly cooperated with our business institutions that being one of the main functions of any bank, yet while credit has been extended generously no line of credit has been extended unless the financial responsibility of the borrower could stand the most conservative scrutiny, to insure the safety of the depositors as well as to insure adequate protection for the stockholders of the bank.

The officers, directors and employees of the Grayling State Savings Bank are to be congratulated upon the excellent showing they have made so far in a little over one year that the bank has been in business, especially considering that in the history of Michigan banking there has with-out a doubt never been a more trying period than the past year.

MRS. KE-CHITTIGO PASSED AWAY

WAS LAST OF PIONEER INDIANS. NEARLY 100 YEARS OLD.

Mrs. Mary A. Ke-Chittigo, a well known resident of Grayling since 1886 passed away at her home last Friday morning at 3:30 o'clock. Mrs. Ke-Chittigo had nearly reached the one hundred mark as it was figured by relatives that she was 98 years old. She is the last of the Indians of the Chippewa tribe, who made Grayling their home when it was a wilderness and lived here after the town was established.

The Ke-Chittigos were very friendly with the Shoppenagon family when they were alive. Mrs. Ke-Chittigo was born in Lapeer county in the year 1835. In 1875 she was married to Thomas Ke-Chittigo and they came to Crawford county in 1895. The latter who served in the Civil war in 1861 was a sergeant in Co. K of the First Michigan Sharpshooters. He passed away in 1916 and since that time Mrs. Ke-Chittigo had lived alone, except for the past while, her nephew Lyman Williams and wife of Rosebush, Mich., had been here caring for her as she had grown quite feeble. She did not seem to be ill but instead her life just seemed to be fading away day by day until the end came.

Mrs. Ke-Chittigo was loved by her neighbors and she had a wide circle of friends. During her younger days she took an active part in the affairs of the Women's Relief Corps and was considered one of its esteemed members. She was also a member of the Methodist church. While she had no education and was unable to read or write, still she had a keen mind.

The funeral of the deceased was held Monday afternoon with services at the Mitchell Memorial church. Rev. H. J. Salmon officiating. Interment was in Elmwood cemetery.

Surviving the deceased is one daughter Mary Biglow of Omena, Mich., and two nephews, Mr. Williams of Rosebush and Jack Williams of Beaverton. The latter came to be in attendance at the funeral.

WOMAN'S CLUB NOTES

Fourteenth regular meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Milnes, Monday, Feb. 20th.

Following the regular business, the meeting was turned over to the Program committee. Mrs. Esbern Olson read a very interesting resume of "The Epic of America" by the author James Truslow Adams. This paper was written for us by Mrs. Olaf Mickelson, of Detroit and made special mention of the most interesting events covered by the author. Comparisons were also made with present times.

Miss Isa Granger was hostess to the club on Monday, Feb. 27th. In the absence of our president, Mrs. Milnes, Mrs. McNamara, 1st vice president, presided.

Discussion was had with reference to club work for next year, and books, topics, etc., to be studied.

Program was in charge of Miss Hazel Cassidy and Mrs. J. C. Green, who read an interesting synopsis of the play "The Barretts of Wimpole Street" written by Rudolf Beiser. Characters were described, and the play itself was briefly told.

Next regular meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Emil Glogling.

LUMBERJACKS WIN TOURNAMENT TROPHY

Roscommon staged another of their popular annual independent basketball tournaments last Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights and Grayling's own Lumberjacks brought home the championship trophy for the second year in succession. Too Elmer Neal of the home team was the lucky winner of a gold basketball charm in the free throwing contest. He was successful in getting 13 out of 15 tries.

More honors came to Grayling in the total number of points made by local players during the tournament. Hendrickson was second on the list, making 34 points, and Elmer Neal was third with 31 points and Harrison registered 29 points. G. Antman of West Branch made the highest number, 39, points, for the West Branch Rangers.

Eight independent teams entered the tournament—Grayling, Roscommon, West Branch, Gaylord, Indian River, Frederic, Mio, and Prescott, and basket ball fans were treated to some fine games, both close and one-sided contests. There were close to five hundred people in attendance at the Thursday and Saturday night games and Friday night the crowd was almost as large. It was a very successful affair and makes the second of its kind to be sponsored by the Roscommon Ramblers.

Grayling Jacks won their way to the finals by defeating the West Branch Rangers, last year's runners-up on the opening night by the score of 37-31, and on Friday night they took Indian River into camp to the tune of 25 and 20. Roscommon defeated Gaylord and Prescott to win their way to the finals. All games for the Lumberjack and Rambler teams were bitterly fought and when the two old rivals took the floor to fight for the championship it was evident that each intended to win. The story of the final championship game played between the Grayling Lumberjacks and Roscommon Ramblers, as will appear in the Roscommon Herald-News, reads as follows:

Lumberjacks Win Championship.

The Ramblers started with a rush against Grayling, Curnalia taking the tip-off and sinking the ball for two points. Sheehy tied it a moment later, and Harrison put Grayling two points ahead, but Williams promptly tied the count at 4-4. Three more goals by Curnalia, Williams, and Emery made the score 10-4. The Ramblers led, 16-8, at the end of the quarter. In the second period they went still farther ahead, with Emery, Price, and Rutledge caging the ball from under the basket and with Curnalia scoring three long shots in succession in the last minutes of the half. The Ramblers led, 31-17, at the end of the second quarter. In the next period, the Lumberjacks scored as sensationally as had the Roscommon team in the first two periods. Robertson, Hendrickson, and Neal gathered ten points before Emery scored the Ramblers' first point of the second half. During this period of play Williams, regular guard on the local team, went out of the game with four personal fouls. It was at

CRITICAL PROBLEMS OF STATE INCREASE

Legislature Fully Realizes Plight of People—What Members Are Proposing

(By Elton R. Eaton)

Lansing, Mich.—There is a bill on the way through the legislature which by the time this is printed may be in the governor's office for his signature that will permit automobile owners who have not yet secured their 1933 license plates to do so by paying half of the fee now and the remaining half six months later. This bill has been put forth as one of the "relief" measures for the people of Michigan.

Automobile owners of Michigan during the state's last fiscal year ending June 30, 1932, paid into the state treasury $18,792,129.76 for license plates. The ratio of collection so far this year has been way below that of a year ago says the secretary of state's office. This is pointed out by sponsors of the easy-payment bill as proof of the fact that automobile owners cannot now afford to buy their license plates, but that if the fee is made payable in two easy payments it will keep automobiles on the road, thereby bringing more money into the state's cash till.

It is interesting to note in this connection that the annual report of Auditor General Fuller made to Governor Chase Osborn for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1932, showed the entire income of the state from all sources to be $14,140,498.57.

From these figures it is seen that Michigan automobile owners last year paid the state over $4,600,000 more for their license plates than the state government collected from all sources in 1932. Auto owners have been asking to have both the license tag fee as well as the gas tax cut in half. One member of the legislature pointed out that the easy-payment plan for license plates might possibly have been advanced for the purpose of forestalling a bill which is in preparation to cut this tax one hundred per cent.

It is known that certain groups interested in road building and contracting are exceedingly anxious to maintain the present license fee as well as the three cent gas tax.

Living from day to day on the meager pay checks provided by the state for their services, as the result of the banking situation in Michigan, members of the legislature need no longer be told by the folks back home of the seriousness of the economic situation that prevails. Each week, each day has witnessed a rapidly changing attitude on the part of legislators especially among the newer members.

The old timers who were re-elected knew something of what was in the air. They knew of the fast dwindling tax payments, of the constantly increasing inability of people to pay taxes, licenses and fees. Many of the newer members knew too. They had been told by farmers, grocers, and by the hordes of unemployed that the time had come for a legislature in Lansing to give some consideration to the plight of those who support the government—the army of job holders, institutions and other public subsidized agencies.

The grave faces of senators and house members, the utter lack of frivolity about legislative chambers and the eagerness to do something that will bring some sort of relief to the state indicates pretty well the change since January 4th. Then the demand among the newly elected legislators was for jobs—jobs for friends back home who wanted to get on the public payroll.

Not much talk about jobs these days. But there is plenty of talk about banking, taxes and economy.

As indicated in the M. P. A. legislative letter three weeks ago, the taxation committees of both the house and senate have been studying the situation. The taxation committees of both the house and senate have been studying the situation. The taxation committees of both the house and senate have been studying the situation.

While state officials and department heads are figuring out cuts that must be made, as the result of the mandate of these two committees, banking legislation that will in some measure protect at least a portion of the savings of Michigan people is under consideration.

The bank calamity brought upon Michigan over night has apparently put a stop to all talk of chain or branch banking in Michigan. The fact that it was the Guardian group of banks spreading across the state that found it necessary to appeal for the state aid that resulted in closing 530 banks in the state for eight days has made the legislature a bit shy of branch banking legislation.

The appearance of one or two bills dealing with insurance matters has brought forth the information that there is a very strong possibility of plenty of drastic insurance legislation before the present session of the legislature is over. Fire insurance premiums have remained sky high it pointed out while everything else has gone down. Numerous complaints over settlements of losses and other practices of companies is said to be the basis of considerable proposed legislation along insurance lines.

The senate has at last seen fit to give recognition to the splendid work that was done by the Commission of Inquiry into Governmental Costs created by the last legislature. Every economy measure so far passed by the legislature was proposed by this commission. The house sometime ago passed a resolution praising the work of this commission. The senate has now concurred with its approval of the splendid work of this group. Representative Vernon Brown, president of the Michigan Press Association, was a member of this commission. Representative Gus Hartman of Houghton, with Mr. Brown were the only two members of the commission re-elected.

The legislature is being flooded with petitions from women club groups asking that no action be taken which will in any way curtail the activities of the extension department of the state library. If a bill prepared by the old legislative Commission of Inquiry is passed, the functions of the state library as now existing will be terminated.

A proposal which in the past never got very far in the legislature which provided for the elimination of state owned automobiles has again been revived by Senator Glasner of Charlotte. He would give state employees a chance to buy state owned cars they now operate and pay them 5 cents per mile for their use. No one ever found out just how many cars the state does own or how much it pays to operate them.

Senator Ben Carpenter of Clare believes that farmers plastered with mortgages and contracts are just as much entitled to consideration as the bankers. He is therefore asking the state legislature for a moratorium on all mortgage and contract payments. His proposal would relieve defaulting interest payers from immediate loss of their equities.

FELDBAUSER SCHOOL NOTES

(Too late for last week)

We are enjoying the winter weather.

Some of the side roads have not been plowed so a few of the children must walk as far as the main road in order to get to school.

Patsy Madsen and Wilma Feldhauser have been out of school because of having mumps.

Tuesday we had a Valentine party. Everyone received plenty of pretty Valentines, and candy was passed around by the teacher.

Norman Bancroft is a new pupil in our fourth grade. Our enrollment is now twenty-nine.

The third, fourth and fifth grades made very nice Lincoln books last week. They are now collecting pictures, etc., for Washington books.

Miss Sylvia Wixson, a state 4-H Club leader visited our girls club late in January. She examined the articles already made and gave suggestions for the selection of patterns and materials for the dresses. The dresses will be the last problem of the clothing project. Some of the girls have theirs nearly made now.

The Seventh and Eighth graders are already reviewing for their state examination.

Our leader has twenty-five nice new books. We also have two new footballs which were given with the order.

Mary V. Wakeley, Teacher.

WORK ON ROADS

Fifty men started work on State trunk line highways Monday morning and worked two days. It is stated that the State had apportioned $5,000 to be used for highway construction in Crawford county during the month of February; but the money didn't arrive until Saturday and that left only two working days in February.

It is understood that the money from that appropriation could be used during February only. Thus this money is not available for use in March. Work was discontinued until today when 40 men went to work and, according to County Clerk Axel Peterson there will be work for 40 men three days in every week. This money comes from the R. F. C. and is handled thru special commissions appointed therefore.

GRAYLING 19 WEST BRANCH 11

Grayling High School's Northern Lights concluded the basketball schedule last Friday night with a 19-11 win over West Branch. To make the occasion complete the Reserves took the West Branch hopefuls by the baseball score of 8-5. It was passable entertainment for a fair crowd.

Only once in the two games was Grayling behind. That was in the first part of the first quarter when the Branch led 3-2. A free toss knotted the count and then Grayling forged ahead and never was headed. The count at the half was 7-11. In the last quarter action speeded up as both teams battled furiously and both captains were banished by the four-personal route. Center Thompson of the losers personally and intimately inspected nearly every board in the floor, in that last period. His falls were artistic and repeated, and he easily captures the all-season mumbering laurels.

Coach Willard Cornell's club was presented to fans in a new arrangement and it really did a good job of disposing of the opposition. The cripples and invalids are still seriously making their absence felt. Just what the lineup for the tournament game of tonight will be is hard to predict.

The Reserves played and won their last game of the season. They did all of their scoring in the first half. Not a point did they add after the intermission, but their defense was so sturdy that the rivals got but a basket in the time.

Webb and Buchen handled the games. The summaries follow:

COMES TO RIALTO THEATRE, GRAYLING

With Ernest Truex, internationally famed comedian, heading a cast of film favorites in a film version of one of his greatest Broadway successes, Mikro-Goldwyn-Mayer's production, "Whistling in the Dark," Sunday and Monday, at the Rialto Theatre, Grayling.

Truex starred on Broadway and in leading cities of the country for eleven solid months in this mystery-comedy, which critics hailed with delight as the play which poked fun at crook dramas.

Also prominent in the cast are Una Merkel, one of the screen's most popular comedienne, Edward Arnold, who was in the original stage cast with Truex, John Mifflin, C. Henry Gordon, Johnny Hines, Joseph Cawthorn, Nat Pendleton, Tenen Holtz and Marcelle Corday.

Plans "Perfect Crime." "Whistling in the Dark" is the story of a mystery novel author forced to devise a "perfect crime" for a band of crooks who plan to kill a man who is far away on a speeding train. Truex, as the author, concocts a deadly scheme, then finds a way of warning his victim without leaving the house in which he and Una Merkel are held captive. He performs both feats in the face of a warning that if he fails them, the crooks will take the life of both lovers.

Elliott Nugent, who shared in the direction of "The Mouthpiece" and "Life Begins," directed this production. He also made the adaptation from the stage play of Laurence Gross and Edward Childs Carpenter. Nugent was a popular stage comedian and playwright before coming to the screen as a writer and director.

In "Whistling in the Dark," Ernest Truex is making his first appearance in talking pictures, although he starred in films in several silent productions. On the stage he starred in "The Fall Guy," both in New York and London, and is the only American of the modern stage to win a permanent place in the London theatre, where he kept England laughing for four continuous years.

SMELT RUNS START SOON

Within the next two weeks, Benish, Boyne City, Petoskey and residents of other communities along the Great Lakes shores will begin their spring watch for the first indications of the 1933 smelt runs.

With mild weather persisting through practically all of the winter, "smelt experts" are predicting an early run, some expecting "runs" in lower Michigan to begin during the early part of March.

Annual influx of thousands each spring whose one object is to return home with bushels of the diminutive species has made the smelt runs profitable to several communities which are already making elaborate plans to attract and entertain visitors.

Benish on Crystal Lake, once holding the spotlight because of the fact that for years it was the only site of an extensive run of smelt is now being rivalled by Boyne City, Petoskey, and other cities. Last spring smelt runs developed in the upper peninsula, especially on the Ogontz River in Delta County where hundreds of thousands of fish running up the stream from Lake Michigan were captured. Several runs were observed along the Lake Huron shore.

Taking smelt through the ice has provided profit as well as sport throughout the winter, smelt fishing becoming increasingly popular. In several instances smelt fishing has been providing support for entire families and instances when hundreds of these fish have been caught by a single individual in one day are not common.

Too Much Junk

Henry Ford once said that he practically paid for a railroad which he had purchased from the proceeds of the junk which was found around the property.

Junk may not have a great value today, but it continues to have a destructive effect upon the community.

Scattered here and there are all kinds of junk, old, unsightly shacks, abandoned automobiles, barrels, boxes, crates, rubbish, trash, waste, all of which can be profitably disposed of. The profit may not come in dollars and cents, but will come in the satisfaction given our citizens because the old town looks better.

Grow if Allowed To

Lower animals are not so limited in the size they can attain as more highly developed species and fishes. Snakes and many other creatures continue to grow in size as long as they can escape from their enemies and find sufficient food.

SCHOOL NOTES

Last Wednesday afternoon a program was given in honor of Washington's birthday. It was in charge of Student Body President, Kenneth Gothro, who opened it by having the whole student body sing "America the Beautiful."

Reverend Salmon delivered a very impressive address on the life of Washington and the qualities of a leader, which was much enjoyed and appreciated by the students.

The program was closed by singing several of the school songs.

Good Sportsmanship For Students And Others

"Sportsmanship is that quality of honor that desires always to be courteous, fair, and respectful, and it is interpreted in the conduct of players, spectators, coaches, and school authorities."—Fielding H. Yost.

High School students should set a good example in the matter of sportsmanship and should quickly condemn unsportsmanlike conduct on the part of either other students or adults. To this end they should—

- (1) Remember that a student spectator represents his school the same as does the athlete.
- (2) Recognize that the good name of the school is more valuable than any game won by unfair play.
- (3) Respond with enthusiasm to the calls of the cheer leader for yells in support of the team especially when it is losing.
- (4) Learn the rules of the various athletic games so that either as spectators or critics they will be intelligent.
- (5) Accept decisions of officials without question.
- (6) Express disapproval of rough play or poor sportsmanship on the part of players representing the school.
- (7) Recognize and applaud an exhibition of fine play or good sportsmanship on the part of the visiting team.
- (8) Be considerate of the injured on the visiting team.
- (9) Insist on the courteous treatment of the visiting team as it passes through the streets or visits the local school building, and extend the members every possible courtesy.
- (10) Acquaint the adults of the community and the grade pupils with the ideals of sportsmanship that are acceptable to the high school.
- (11) Impress upon the community its responsibility for the exercise of self-control and fair play at all athletic contests.
- (12) Advocate that any spectator who continually evidences poor sportsmanship be requested not to attend future contests.
- (13) Insist on fair, courteous, and truthful accounts of athletic contests in local and school papers.
- (14) Be familiar with the state rules of eligibility and support their strict enforcement.
- (15) Encourage the full discussion of fair play, sportsmanship, and school spirit through class work and auditorium programs in order to discover ways by which students and schools can develop and demonstrate good sportsmanship.

Hull and Woodin Head the Roosevelt Cabinet—Congress Puts Prohibition Repeal Up to the States—Japan Invades Jehol.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD

SO THAT his administration might get a running start in the negotiations concerning war debts, world economics and other related matters that are worrying the nations, President Elect Roosevelt made public two of his selections for his cabinet. These were Senator Cordell Hull of Tennessee as secretary of state and William H. Woodin, New York capitalist, as secretary of the treasury. These gentlemen, who, Mr. Roosevelt said, were "drafted" against their will, were at once associated with him in the preliminaries of determining the policies of the incoming administration in its relations with foreign powers. They became members of what Mr. Roosevelt has called his "unofficial" committee to advise him on world economic problems, and met with that group, which includes Bernard Baruch, Prof. Raymond Moley and others.

Mr. Hull, long considered one of the ablest men in the Democratic party, is not an orator or an accomplished debater, but is studious, resourceful and has served his country ably for many years in the house and the senate. Before entering congress he was in the Tennessee legislature, and he served in the Spanish-American war as a captain of volunteer infantry. He is devoted to the policy of tariffs for revenue only, and believes that one of the basic causes of the business depression has been nationalist isolation, started by the United States in 1920 with the erection of tariff walls which other nations were quick to copy. Prohibitive tariffs, he holds, have helped stagnate trade by creating a productive capacity in excess of domestic demand.

Senator Carter Glass of Virginia was Mr. Roosevelt's first choice for secretary of the treasury, but he declined the post solely because he believes he can better serve the country in the senate. So the President Elect persuaded his close personal friend, William H. Woodin, to accept the portfolio. Mr. Woodin formerly was a Republican, but he joined the Roosevelt camp before last summer's convention and afterward was treasurer of a special finance committee that raised a large fund for the Democratic party. He has an international reputation as a manufacturer of railway equipment and as a banker and is now president of the American Car and Foundry company. His interests are not all business, for he is an accomplished musician and composer, a numismatist and an art collector. He is sixty-five years old, married and has four children.

UNOFFICIALLY, the other members of the Roosevelt cabinet were announced to be these: War—George H. Dern of Utah. Attorney general—Thomas J. Walsh of Montana. Postmaster general—James A. Farley of New York. Navy—Claus A. Swanson of Virginia. Interior—Harold L. Ickes of Illinois. Agriculture—Henry A. Wallace of Iowa. Commerce—Daniel C. Roper of South Carolina. Labor—Frances Perkins of New York.

GIUSEPPE ZANGARA, the brick-maker immigrant who tried in vain to assassinate the President Elect in Miami, must spend 80 years in prison at hard labor, if he lives so long. He pleaded guilty to deadly assault on Mr. Roosevelt and on three others whom his bullet reached, and was sentenced by Judge E. C. Collins. Two of the victims of his mad deed, Mayor Cermak of Chicago and Mrs. Joseph H. Hill of Miami, were still lying in the hospital severely wounded, and so there was a chance that Zangara might later be put on trial for murder.

Mr. Roosevelt wrote a graceful letter of appreciation to Mrs. W. F. Cross of Miami, who probably saved his life by seizing Zangara's arm as he was shooting; and Representative Five Green of Florida introduced a resolution to have congress vote a gold medal of honor to the courageous woman.

Government agents in Washington were investigating a second apparent attempt on the life of the President Elect, following the discovery of a package addressed to him containing a crudely wrapped shotgun shell. It was mailed from Watertown, N. Y., and was found in the Washington post office. Postal inspectors thought it was the work of a crank, but said the shell was wired to explode if jarred or struck and might have resulted fatally.

SIR RONALD LINDSAY, British ambassador, immediately after his return from London held conferences with Mr. Roosevelt, Secretary of State Stimson approving, and reported to Sir John Simon, foreign secretary, that the conversations had been "useful." What was said was not revealed, but Sir John said:

"The conversations are, of course, at present in a wholly preliminary stage and of an entirely general character, but it is not too soon to say that we believe that by a frank and intimate interchange of views between ourselves and the United States over the whole field of current economic problems, the way will be best prepared for the effort which the countries of the world must make together to assist in promoting world recovery."

Mr. Roosevelt also conferred at length with Paul Claudet, the French ambassador, and William Duncan Herridge, the minister from Canada. In Paris Foreign Minister Paul-Boncour said war debt negotiations between France and the United States would be resumed after the inauguration of Mr. Roosevelt, but did not explain just what form the negotiations would take.

REPEAL of the Eighteenth amendment is now up to the states, for the senate's Blaine resolution submitting the action to state conventions was passed by the house by a vote of 289 to 121, or 15 in excess of the required two-thirds of those present and voting. For the repealer were 108 Republicans, 180 Democrats, and 1 Farmer Laborite. Against it were 89 Republicans and 82 Democrats. The action of the house was a reversal of its attitude of the first day of the session, when a resolution to submit unqualified repeal failed of adoption by 6 votes. It was in a way a personal victory for Representative Henry T. Rainey of Illinois, Democratic leader, who moved the adoption of the senate resolution and argued warmly and effectively in its behalf.

Though immediate steps toward the calling of conventions were taken in many of the states, the battle for repeal was by no means won when the submission resolution was adopted. Ratification by thirty-six states is necessary, and if this is not obtained within seven years the whole matter lapses and prohibition remains. Of course the wets are confident that repeal will win in the required number of states within at the most four years, and possibly in much less time, and it may be they are right. Wet leaders assert that only Kansas, Mississippi, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Nebraska can be counted on as certainly dry, and Alabama, Vermont, Idaho and Maine are doubtful. On the other hand Bishop James Cannon, Jr., asserts that thirty to thirty-three states will refuse to validate the Blaine amendment.

Disagreement as to the method by which states' conventions may be set up may delay the functioning of the machinery of ratification. Some congressmen thought congress should prescribe the procedure, but Senator Walsh of Idaho held that all connection which congress has with prohibition repeal ended with submission of the new amendment to the states. This view also was taken by Representative Beck of Pennsylvania, who, like Senator Walsh, is an eminent authority on the Constitution.

FOLLOWING a demand on China to withdraw its troops voluntarily from Jehol, actually by Japan but nominally by the government of the puppet state of Manchukuo, the main body of the Japanese army in Manchukuo crossed the border of the province and advanced rapidly toward Chanyang, second largest city of Jehol. The opposing Chinese were reported to have fled, but immediately thereafter regular Chinese troops crossed into Manchukuo to join irregulars in an attack on the Japanese positions at Tugliáo. The Japanese high command in Manchuria announced that it was determined to "annihilate" the 100,000 regular troops in the army of Marshal Chang Hsueh-liang, and that it might become necessary to occupy Peiping and Tientsin. As is its custom, the Japanese foreign office declared that Japan regarded the Jehol invasion as purely a local affair. The Japanese delegation in Geneva maintained its uncompromising attitude as the assembly of the League of Nations began general discussion of the report of the committee of nineteen on Manchuria. This report is in most respects at utter variance with the claims of Japan, and the Tokyo delegates warned the League that a grave situation would arise if it were adopted by the assembly. Such action, they suggested, might affect friendly relations between nations, upon which peace depends.

PRESIDENT HOOVER, rather neglected in the news of late, surprised congress by sending in a special message urging action on eight subjects of legislation which he thought would aid an economic recovery. He asked that the present congress pass the bankruptcy bill, the Glass banking bill, a measure to increase the amount of Reconstruction Finance corporation funds for state relief loans, a federal farm lease bill and repeal of publicly clause in the R. F. C. act. The President also advised the ratification of the St. Lawrence waterway treaty, the adoption of the army embargo resolution and the starting of study looking to the expansion of the home loan banks into a "general mortgage discount system." Mr. Hoover advocated the Hyde farm leasing plan as a substitute for the domestic allotment scheme, declaring the latter seemed "wholly unworkable" and calculated to do far greater harm than good to agriculture.

The senate did take up the bankruptcy bill, which had passed the house, and it also passed the Wagner relief bill, which increases the R. F. C. funds for state relief and goes further than the President contemplated. It was generally agreed that his other recommendations would meet with no response during the short session.

SPEAKER GARNER dropped his plan to make Roosevelt a constitutional dictator for two years, and the house accepted the senate provision of the treasury and post office appropriation bill conferring limited autocratic power on the incoming President to reorganize the administrative branch of the federal government. By its terms he may consolidate or abolish any administrative agencies and their functions, but may not abolish or consolidate entire departments.

The house rejected the senate amendment directing the head of each department and independent establishment to effect a 5 per cent reduction in expenditures from appropriations for the fiscal year 1934.

Without debate the house accepted the "Buy American" amendment sponsored by Senator Johnson of California. It provides that the heads of all government departments must buy for government use only goods made or produced in the United States or substantially composed of domestic material.

FOR the first time the navy now has a vessel designed and built as an aircraft carrier. It was launched at Newport News, Va., and Mrs. Herbert Hoover christened it Ranger in honor of the ship of the same name that was commanded by John Paul Jones. Our other airplane carriers, the Langley, Saratoga and Lexington, were designed for other uses and were converted. The authorized design intended the Ranger to be of the "flush deck" type, but the navy is now trying to get a bill passed through congress to authorize a change in the plans to construct with an "island deck." In the first type of construction no superstructure is provided except a smokestack which swings out of the way so that the entire deck is available for taking off and landing.

The "island deck" type has a superstructure at the extreme side of the vessel, leaving practically the entire deck free for the use of the airplanes. The change, if authorized by congress, would entail an extra expenditure of $2,000,000.

AUSTRIA was greatly disturbed by a request from France and Great Britain that a shipment of 50,000 rifles and 200 machine guns shipped there from Italy be returned or destroyed, but after some indignant protests Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss announced his government would comply with the demand and the arms returned. Sir John Simon told the house of commons that he hoped the matter might be considered a closed incident. The guns, or at least a part of them, were believed to be destined for Hungary, and the French and English were inclined to hold Mussolini responsible for the seeming violation of the peace treaty. The Italian version was that the arms were sent to Austria by private citizens merely to be repaired and returned.

Dr. C. G. Clippert spent the forepart of the week in Grand Rapids attending a medical convention and at the same time took in the Republican convention. Mrs. Clippert and daughter, Billyann, were guests of Dr. and Mrs. Hallard in Belding during his stay in Grand Rapids.

Rev. Bert Killingsbeck is now starting on his second week of nightly preaching at the South Side church with increasing attendance and interest. When you see and hear him you will see and hear a happy man, blest of the Lord and fiery in the delivery of his messages, and we predict that you will be so well pleased when you hear him that you will come again and again.

In the feature "Believe It Or Not" of the Feb. 28th issue of the Detroit Times, it said Jack Belpap of Grayling batted a ball 7 miles. It said the ball went over the fence into the AuSable River and floated 7 miles. That's nothing "Sig" Hanson is said to have accomplished the same feat. In his baseball days he batted a ball over the fence and it rolled down the hill and evidently into the river, as it couldn't be found.

Potoskey and Harbor Springs own their own electric light systems. It is reported that winter sports at Potoskey are financed entirely out of the profits from the electric system. Unless Grayling electric users are accorded lower electric rates, we believe it would be good business to look into the matter of a municipal electric plant. The city of Grand Haven is extravagantly lighted but nevertheless their municipal electric system returns about $40,000 to $50,000 profit annually to the taxpayers.

The South Side church was lately made to rejoice at the coming of re-enforcements in the form of two young men from a distance going thru to Flint with a truck load of potatoes. On account of a breakdown near here they were entertained at the passenger over night and assisted in the morning. They were Dean Temple of Indian River and Merwin Howell of Lansing. The latter remains as a valued addition to our singing and preaching forces.

Grayling picks winter queens they don't fool. They pick beauties. The young miss that was voted that honor this winter would qualify in any kind of a beauty contest. That prompts us to tell our readers that they staged a splendid winter sports carnival there last Saturday and Sunday and had a large crowd there from all over the country. Everything passed off lovely until Sunday afternoon when rain set in and spoiled it all. Cheboygan Observer.

Style seems to be one of the most important things to be considered in buying a new car this year and the Oldsmobile 8 sure has it. Alfred Hanson, dealer, has received one of the new eights and it is attracting a lot of attention.

Harold Cliff and Mr. and Mrs. Harold McNeven spent Sunday in Lansing visiting Mr. and Mrs. Marius Hanson. They were accompanied home by Mrs. Cliff who had accompanied her uncle, Holger Hanson there the latter part of last week.

William H. Woodin, who has just been appointed by President-elect Roosevelt to the cabinet position of secretary of the treasury, is president of the American Car & Foundry Co., and a business partner of Herbert W. Wolff of Grayling and New York who is the vice president.

Wednesday evening of last week the last of the series of pre-lenten card parties was held at St. Mary's rectory. Prizes for the various games were awarded as follows: Mrs. Thomas Cassidy for bridge, Mrs. Alex LaGrow for "500" and Floyd Loskos for pinocle. Pot Luck lunch was enjoyed.

The Eastern Star gave a card party at the Board of Trade rooms Tuesday evening. Ten tables were in play. Mrs. Frank Sales and Mr. R. H. Rue of Saginaw held the high scores for bridge, Mr. Albert Roberts and Lois Parker for pinocle, Mr. Algot Johnson for "500" and Mrs. Albert Kibbis for pedro.

Mrs. Frank Sales entertained at a delightful bridge party at her home last evening. The party was carried out in very attractive St. Patrick scheme. Four tables of bridge were enjoyed for which prizes were awarded to Miss Margaret Hemmingson, Miss Rosalyn Lewis, and Mrs. Jess Sales. A delicious two-course lunch was served by the hostess, at 12:00.

Michigan Supreme court ruled Wednesday that delinquent tax descriptions must be published, in the case of Thompson vs. Stack (Auditor General). Inasmuch as he (Stack) has defied the law in his ruling on the matter, it is apprehended that he may defy the Supreme court ruling. The court also ruled that the Munshaw-McKenna act, providing five years without penalty for payment of delinquent taxes, is unconstitutional.

Complimenting the gents of Grayling Post American Legion, the Woman's Auxiliary arranged a social evening Monday, the day of their regular weekly meeting. For entertainment cards were enjoyed, and an automobile guessing contest to test the knowledge of the crowd was won by Charles Tinker. To top the pleasant evening a delicious chili con carne lunch was served by the ladies. Annually the Auxiliary sets apart an evening to show their appreciation to the Legion for the use of the hall and for the many other kindnesses extended by the members. This was one of the most pleasant affairs held yet. Door prizes of baskets of groceries were awarded to Mrs. Neal Mathews and Earl Hewitt.

Nothing brings more merriment than looking at old pictures of people one has known. It surely brings back "fond recollections of past reminiscences." The Hanson Hardware Co.'s window is filled with trophies that have been won by successful teams in different sports for the past several years and with these are pictures of the teams with their coaches and in some cases, the superintendent of schools. It is very interesting to figure out some of the faces of those prominent in basketball or baseball many years ago, especially when baseball was so popular in this community and a game would bring out hundreds of fans to root for the Grayling team. The trophies date back to 1914 and the collection represents the fine work done by both girls and boys teams. This being tournament week for basketball for this district makes the window especially appropriate.

Bids for the new AuSable bridge will be received on March 8th and construction will begin soon.

It occurs to us that Grayling could make a fine park and a pleasant entry to our town if the Village could get title to Block 1 and 2 of Goodale Addition. This is the land from Charley Street towards the river and pumping station. If this was cleaned up and each fall a fir tree replanted and possibly some pines from the Higgins Lake nursery, we would soon have a fine little park.

Most of the work could be done by people receiving county aid. Also it seems that a row of trees planted from the railroad corner to this place would look good.

U. S. 27 is now designated the Taft Highway and we will have more tourists than ever. The first impression of a town means a lot. C.M.A.

A jumbled Washington contest was won by Mrs. Florence Wakeley and the consolation was given to Mrs. Jas. Sherman.

The Penny Prize was given to the hostess.

A very nice lunch was served by the committee and hostess which was also appropriate for the occasion.

Twenty-five members and one guest, Mrs. Herbert Parker were present.

The next Red Cross committee was appointed at this meeting. Mrs. William Williams, Mrs. Dewey Palmer and Pres. Mrs. Kenneth Clise are the committee.

The next meeting will be March 9th at the home of Mrs. Earl Marshall. The meeting will also be the occasion of the March birthday of members having birthdays in "March. Mrs. Earl Broadbent will make the birthday cake.

TOURNAMENT

Grayling Lumberjacks

The first half of the game was a hard-fought battle. Williams had held him to three points in the first half and to three more at the beginning of the second half. He scored once more from the foul line in the third quarter, and in the final period he was left unguarded enough times to score seven field goals and to secure a good many other shots that barely failed to register.

In the third period, Grayling put scored the Ramblers, sixteen points to two, and ended the period in a 33-23 tie. In the last ten minutes, they led all the time. Hendrickson scored three long ones in a row to start the quarter. Emery gathered a point from the foul line, and then Neal and Harrison scored two goals to boost the Grayling lead to nine points. Rutledge and Emery cut that lead to five points, but Hendrickson and Neal quickly put the Lumberjacks eleven ahead. Rutledge's last minute goal was matched by Hendrickson, just as the final whistle was blown.

Hendrickson led both teams in scoring, netting nine field goals and three foul shots for a total of 21 points. Neal and Harrison each added 12 for Grayling. Emery led the locals with 15 points, followed by Curnalia with 12. Rutledge added 6; Dick Price, 5; Williams, 4.

Both the Lumberjacks and Roscommon Ramblers presented a cast of former High School stars. Of the Roscommon quintet Art Curnalia and Don Emery both played stellar positions on the Grayling High basketball team a few years ago and with the members of the Lumberjack team are all products of the coaching of former Coach LaVerne Cushman. Robertson, Hendrickson, Neal, Harrison, Brady and Sheehy together with Curnalia and Emery have thrilled many a packed Grayling gymnasium.

Grayling Lumberjacks are planning to stage an independent basketball tournament in the near future and fans are already looking forward to it.

New York City Leads

World in Realty Values

Cities of China, Japan and other parts of the Orient are going to be able to buy more of the land in Europe's capitals while New York leads the world in realty value.

This is the surprising result of a compilation by the Asia Realty company of Shanghai, China, of comparative land value statistics covering the assessed realty values of 24 leading cities.

London, the largest city in the world as far as population is concerned, takes ninth place in the list of these cities as far as realty values are concerned. The comparisons are based on the value of a now, a Chinese land measurement, which is equivalent in area to one-sixth of an acre. The values were based on the exchange value of the gold dollar.

The 24 most valuable cities in the world from the standpoint of real estate are New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, Boston, Indianapolis, Montreal, Los Angeles, Liverpool, London, Tokyo, Paris, Sydney, Berlin, Rome, Singapore, Manila, Mar-seilles, Cape Town, Bombay, Manchester, Buenos Aires, Shanghai, Hongkong and Canton.

to Be Masculine Trait

Women, though there are, of course, exceptions to this rule, as to all others, have no palates, Susan Ertz writes in Harper's Magazine. They eat because they are hungry or because they must, while men eat for love, they eat with zest, with gusto, even with passion.

For every 10,000 women whose idea of bliss is to have a bite of dinner in bed on a tray, you will perhaps find one man with a similar fondness. To eating, as to games, he brings an almost religious fervor and devotion. Dinner to our male gourmet, is a sacred time. Interruptions are a kind of blasphemy, and the sound of the telephone bell, or an unexpected ring at the front door maddens him and destroys his pleasure in the meal.

Whoever heard of a woman being drowned in a hut of Mafinsey or dying from consuming too many lampreys? The Roman habit of eating until a visit to the vomitorium was a necessity and then returning to the table again was not much indulged in, I fancy, by the Roman matron.

Discontent

It is curious when one stops to consider, how many discontented moods grow solely, not out of any tangible hardships in our own lot, but out of some comparisons of our selves with our neighbors. If another man's wife is handsomer, another man's children cleverer, or his business more prosperous, it really seems to affect us in a most unreasonable way. The truth is that his going, are not our losses, and, if all that he has were swept away from him tomorrow, it would add nothing to our store; and yet we indulge in an illogical envy which makes our own fate seem a blighted times harder by its contrast with his, as the black ox behind it brings out the clear lines of some cameo.

Identifying Diamonds

Diamonds in the rough, as they come from the ground, may be any color, but diamonds in this state generally have a greasy luster like pieces of glass covered with vaseline. They must be cut and polished before the color and brilliance is brought out. The sparkle of the diamond is caused by the refraction of light from the facets of the diamond, and these do not appear naturally, but must be cut. It would be difficult for an amateur to distinguish a diamond as it came from the ground, and any mined product of this kind should be tested by experts in order to determine its true value.

Big Animal, Tiny Victim

The aardvark, an animal which appears like something seen in a delirium, is as ridiculous in its eating habits as it is in appearance. The full grown ant-bear as it is commonly called or earth-pig as its name translates literally, is about five feet long from tip to tail. It has a long snout and strong claws which it uses in burrowing into ant hills. Having wrecked a hill, the aardvark sticks up its snout with its tongue. It seems absurd for so large an animal to feed on so small an insect, but that seems to be its main purpose in life. Its food is almost entirely insect and its habits nocturnal.

Not for Sale

The world, it is said, is always looking for men who are not for sale; men who are honest, sound from center to circumference, true to the heart's core. Men who know their places and tell it; men who know their own business and tend to it; men who will not be shirked, or dodged; men who are not too busy to work, not too proud to be poor; men who are willing to cut what they have earned, and you what they have paid for; men who are not afraid to say "No," with emphasis and who are not ashamed to say "I can't afford it," they.

Elves and Gnomes Come

Into World of Reality

An Englishman who wrote a fascinating story called "The Adventures of a Gnome," considered only to be a book for children. But Geoffrey Hodson, who spoke before the Michigan Theosophical Federation in Detroit, would doubtless accept it as fact rather than fancy.

For he says he believes that there are tiny little nature spirits which obey the will of "a major, directing intelligence in nature" and in so doing perform "important functions in the economics of the solar system." Peasants in northern England and in Ireland, themselves of Celtic blood and therefore assumed to be more psychic than Nor-dics, are intimately acquainted with these spirits of garden, field and woodland, according to Mr. Hodson. Moreover, two little English girls actually took photographs of "nature spirits," which looked exactly as fairy tale illustrations have made them appear.

The average individual would have to be convinced of the part elves and gnomes play in the work-a-day world before he would pay very serious attention to all this. The practical man would like to know whether elves and gnomes can be trained or cajoled into such helpfulness as weed-pulling or bug-killing in the garden. Otherwise, what price elves and gnomes?—Detroit Free Press.

Scientists Unable to #### Explain Cause of Fire

The most logical explanation as to what causes the heat which is generated in a hay stack and sometimes ends in spontaneous combustion, as known today, though, by no means the most universally accepted, and the one scientific observations of actual cases seems to support is as follows: When hay is stacked in a moist condition, plant tissue enzymes are able to continue their activities and micro-organisms are enabled to grow. Both of these reactions may, and probably do, produce heat. The plant tissue cells and some of the micro-organisms may be assumed to be killed at 115 degrees 125 degrees Fahrenheit. Here highly heat resistant micro-organisms, known as thermophiles, may begin to grow and also to liberate heat. Just how high they might carry the temperature is not known, but probably not as high as 212 degrees Fahrenheit. However, temperatures as high as 680 degrees Fahrenheit have been recorded in hay stacks before fire broke out. What the reaction is that produces this temperature is not known, though it is undoubtedly some oxidative reaction.

Haggis Long Popular

Although always described as an ancient Scottish dish, the haggis was known both in England and France before it was a familiar dish in Scotland, says an article in the Montreal Family Herald. It was a popular dish in early days in England and it has been suggested that it was taken North by the families settled in the lowlands by Edward I. There is more authority for believing, however, that the dish found its way to Scotland from France in the days when those two countries were united against England. The name, too, is linked up with the old French "agasse," which, like the haggis, consisted essentially of a sheep's stomach filled with the minced heart, liver and lungs of a sheep.

Looted by Locksmith

By the simple method of standing near the entrance to the local theater and noting those who entered, a locksmith of Chicago (Valencia), well known and respected in the town, was able to carry out for several years a series of robberies without detection. His successful career has ended because it occurred to a spectator to return home during the interval, only to find "his friend and locksmith" burgling his safe. The locksmith's dexterity and the fact that he never took more than a part of the money or jewels he found, usually gave rise to the suspicion that a servant or some member of the family was responsible.

Stuart Royal Family

Brittany, in France, was the home of the Stuarts, kings of Scotland and England. The name of the first emigrant seems to have been Alan, who was steward of David I. of Britain. Coming into England soon after the conquest, his descendants went on to the North, where one became high steward of Scotland under King David I. The Stuarts, spelled also Stewart and Stuart, took their name from the position of steward. They were not connected with the old kings of Scotland.

Sizing Her Up

Mrs. Dumbley was waiting to be served in the shoe shop. Presently the girl assistant approached her. "What size shoe do you wear, madam?" she inquired. "Well," said Mrs. Dumbley, with a coy smile, "I bought size four last time." "Yes, madam, I remember," she replied, "but you're buying this pair for yourself, aren't you?"—London Answers.

NEW OLDSMOBILE 6 and 8

STYLE LEADERS FOR 1933

THE NEW SIX

THE NEW EIGHT

We take great pleasure in announcing our appointment as dealer for the Oldsmobile 6 and 8 in this community.

These two new style leaders for 1933—a roomier, more powerful Oldsmobile Six at $745, and a larger, more luxurious Eight at $845—are now on display at our salesrooms, where we cordially invite you to see them and have a demonstration.

They are entirely different from anything you ever saw. New Fisher bodies—radiators—lamps—hoods. New fenders and wheels. New rear contours. Everywhere, a striking new smartness that would win acclaim at double the price.

And with all this style appeal, the 1933 Oldsmobiles are brilliant, dependable performers, greatly advanced in engineering. Both the 80 h.p. Six engine and the 90 h.p. Straight Eight engine are cradled in rubber with a three-point mounting of new scientific design, making these inherently smooth power plants still quieter and smoother throughout the entire speed range. Fisher No Draft Ventilation, Individually Controlled; beyond question the greatest contribution to comfort, health and safety since the introduction of the closed body, is built into all 1933 Oldsmobile closed cars.

In addition to our display of the new Oldsmobiles, we invite you to inspect our facilities for servicing Oldsmobile cars. Our service department is already stocked with genuine Oldsmobile parts and equipped with factory-approved machines and tools, in charge of expert mechanics, assuring a high standard of prompt, efficient service. We will also continue to provide Chevrolet owners with the same complete service they have enjoyed in the past.

See the new Oldsmobiles at your earliest convenience, and arrange a trial ride for a demonstration of the balanced excellence now available in these cars, at the lowest prices in ten years—$745 and up, f. o. b. Lansing—bumpers and spare tire extra.
